

Essential Capacities

For Navigating Complexity and Building New Cultural DNA

I'm thrilled to introduce you to Context Institute's two new Essential Capacities programs:

Program 1: Expanding Personal and Collaborative Capabilities

Mar 2 – 28

Program 2: Co-Evolving Whole-System Organizations and Cultures

Apr 13 – May 9

We're introducing this new series of programs that build on Context Institute's four decades of expertise in cultural transformation, with new content and practices, more depth, more tools, and more practical applications that can enable deep personal and cultural transformation.

Program 1 empowers you to upgrade your personal operating system by giving practical depth to the Foundational Keys of HumanOS Literacy, Savvy about Psychodynamics, Skillful with Diverse Modes of Cognition, and Adept at Win-Win-Win Collaboration. It's also a prerequisite for Program 2.

Program 2 builds on Program 1 and equips you to co-evolve your groups, organizations, and the culture by giving practical depth to the Foundational Keys of Systems Literacy, Embodied Harmony, and Cultural Evolution Literacy, and exploring how to create innovative organizations based on the Keys.

Program 1 is valuable for everyone who's ready to outgrow the limitations of modernist culture, like categorical rigidity and narrow individualism. Program 2 adds capacity for developing high-functioning groups that go beyond these limitations.

In both programs, you'll be expanding your capacity to:

- succeed at your initiatives
- be self-aware of your internal dynamics and resiliently live from your Optimal Zone
- work with others more effectively, enjoyably, and meaningfully
- use the Foundational Keys as multi-level support for both your own optimal functioning and the collective cultural evolution that the world so urgently needs.
- use AI (like Claude, ChatGPT, or Gemini) as a strategic thought-partner that's able to apply the Keys to your personal initiatives and interests in remarkably helpful and powerful ways

The Process

The process has interpersonal, experiential, and conceptual dimensions:

- We'll have triads and group meetings. These give participants an opportunity to deepen their learning through learning together.
- The content arrives weekly via our learning support system. You can go through each week at your own pace.
- You'll develop your own personalized AI research assistant (like Claude, ChatGPT, or Gemini), training it with the program content and other Context Institute material (including from the Bright Future Now program). If you're new to using AI for research, you'll get a gentle introduction in a safe environment.

- You will be part of a special private Context Institute online group with other program participants for ongoing asynchronous connection.

The process is designed to be as time-efficient as possible while still supporting a profound and immediately useful experience.

- The reading time for the content is under 45 minutes total for each week.
- You have two meetings each week: your triad (which you help to schedule), and the group meeting. We plan to offer group meetings at least two times a week, 10am Pacific Time Thursday and Saturday. You'll be able to choose which one to attend on a week-by-week basis.
- The experiential activities are designed to integrate into your daily activities.
- The time you spend with your AI research assistant will be devoted to supporting your own initiatives that you want to enhance with the Essential Capacities.

Registration

For Program 1 only

- Early-Bird registration – $325 (by Jan 24)
- Regular registration - $375
- Supporting registration – $425 ($475 after Jan 24)

(Supporting registration contributes to the Scholarship Fund and helps us continue Context Institute's commitment to geographic, age, and background diversity.)

For both Programs 1 and 2

- Early-Bird registration – $600 (by Jan 24)
- Regular registration - $700
- Supporting registration – $750 ($850 after Jan 24)

If you register for Program 1 and then, after completing it, decide you want to do Program 2, registration for Program 2 will be $375 (or $475 Supporting).

Scholarships are available. Email me at rgilman@context.org for more information.

You can spread the payments over as many as twelve months if that's helpful.

There's a full money-back guarantee for each program through the first week of that program. For example, if you've registered for both but then decide to drop Program 2, you'll be refunded the difference between the combined rate and the Program 1 rate based on the time you registered.

You'll be added to the program's private Commons group as soon as you register. In the group, you'll find Early-Bird resources and, if you choose, you can begin your self-paced involvement with the program.

FAQs

- If I register for only Program 1 now, can I change my mind before Jan 17 and still get the combined Early-Bird rate for both? Yes and you'll just need to pay an additional $275 to bring your total up to $600. If you change your mind after Jan 17, you'll need to pay an additional $375, which is the regular rate for a single program.
- Will you be offering this series in the future? Yes, we plan on offering this multiple times throughout the year, although we don't have dates yet. If you take only Program 1 now, you can take Program 2 in a later cycle.
